

Music to Awaken and to Heal

Combined choristers of Canberra, together with professional soloists and small orchestra, directed by Judith Clingan AM, will present a sequence of Australian choral and vocal compositions which look at the historical and present realities of climate change, fires and environmental crisis.

The Chapel, Australian Centre for Christianity and Culture

7.30pm Saturday 14 March 2020

Admission either through Trybooking, or at the door $30 full, $20 concession adults, $10 high school students, primary students free.

HOWEVER

as all proceeds will go directly to injured wildlife and habitat restoration in the South Coast and Alpine areas, please feel free to donate generously.

PLEASE NOTE:

This is not just a concert – it is a coming-together of all of us whose hearts are full of grief and anxiety about the future. Everyone – audience and performers – will join together in singing a simple round, and in wordless vocalising above the sound of singing bowls.

We will share supper after the concert – please bring cold finger food to share.
